Smart Wizard for MOSS 2007.Install and configure Smart Wizard for MOSS 2007. Download Smart Wizard for MOSS 2007, and unzip it into the TEMPLATE\MODULES\SmartWizard folder on your SharePoint 2007 server. You can get this folder from a SharePoint Central Administration site; it's under the "Modules" node. Set the connection property to point to your mail system. To test it, send yourself an email, go to the "Log In" page, and you should see the "You need to log in to use this page" message appear. If the log in screen appears, but you still get the message, check the SMTP settings for your server. You may need to use a specific port other than port 25. If this doesn't work, check your config file for "mailserver." 2.In the Folder field, enter the folder to download the attachments to. If the "Download all attachments as MailMessage file" check box is selected, you can either choose "download all mail attachments" as a new mail message and save it in your Email Attachments folder or specify the file that you want the attachments to go to. 3.In the From field, enter the email address of the destination for the message. Be careful to use the email address for the destination account so you don't get any bad receipts. This will replace the return address on the mail message. 4.In the Message field, enter the subject for the email. This will be the text under the "From" field in the message you will be creating. This field is normally automatically filled in, so this part is only necessary if you have the "Download all attachments as MailMessage file" check box selected and you have a mail account other than the one listed in the Folder field. 5.In the Recipient field, enter the email address of the person you will send the message to. 6.In the Body field, enter the body text of your email. Normally you would use the format shown above in the MailMessage section of this document
