I did not like some of the puzzles in this game but it is a total eye opener because of the 3D images and the puzzle.It was challenging and I did not know what to expect until the end. If you enjoy puzzles like Bejeweled or a version of Tetris, this is for you. It's cheap and less than 20MB. REVIEW By Chris on 11-29-2017 Loved it! I never thought I would like a game that was more of a puzzle, but I found myself enjoying it even if I didn't always understand. It's much easier than Bejeweled so I found it more challenging but definitely not as frustrating. It uses 3D images that get removed from the screen that makes it so much better than the standard 2D games. To me it's a game that can be enjoyed by all ages. Although I'm not sure I'll be able to enjoy it for much longer because I keep reaching the level with only one life! 15 Was this review helpful to you? Yes | NoWas this review helpful to

Features Key:

- Can be used to determine the blueprint of a new puzzle game.
- All puzzles follow a color palette.
- The method of "Enter a random number" is new.

Keyboard configuration

- The keys are connected to their keymap configuration file on a connector. You may need to put a new keymap under /www/gamekeys/keymap according to the revised keyboard configuration.
- Positive keys have reversed positions compared to a computer keyboard. If you used the R key on both versions, look at the blue "tab" next to the bottom-right corner of the keys

The mouse

- This set was designed with Astro Q7
- The styling was inspired by the Philips GC7+
- This set supports two axes, so the device can follow the movements in keyboard games, unless the mouse movement is lower than 1%

This game is not about graphics, but about mechanics, of which there are a lot. Although it is based on the classic tower defense gameplay, the devil is in the details. In this game, you can't just build random towers and pass wave after wave. This game will make you think, prepare for every enemy, if you want to win of course Game features: - 16 types of towers - 10 types of traps - 11 types of supporting buildings - 27 types of enemies - 11 types of bosses - build enemy move routes - endless game mode Graphics: Graphics are something I don't really care for. The game looks well done, but it's too low-end for me. I prefer nicer graphics. Other complaints: - There are some bugs in the game. - It's a bit repetitive, but I'd say 3-5 hours are enough for a first try. If you don't care about graphics at all, give it a try. It's worth it for a game like this I bought it yesterday and everything I've had to say in the past was 100% true. Everything you're saying about t2 is 100% true, I'm not being sarcastic. - the learning curve is longer than most - they have a strong focus on action and combat - the graphics are pretty bad - you have to add a lot more understanding -... But those are all minor details. I've been playing a lot of randomly selected games lately and I don't know why I'm surprised. In a few weeks I'm sure I'll be talking about the same things in another randomly selected game and I'll have the same things to say That being said, the game is good, the game is addictive, and it's perfectly playable in one sitting. With no exceptions. EDIT: didn't want to forget you guys and was about to comment but I found your review(s) - the learning curve is longer than most - they have a strong focus on action and combat - the graphics are pretty bad - you have to add a lot more understanding -...
